MANHITA CHAMORRO

February 3, 2014

Michael Makio
Chairman
Guam Preservation Trust
P.O. Box 3036
Hagåtña, Guam 96932

Dear Mr. Makio,

First, I would like to thank your staff for meeting with Pale' Eric Forbes and I regarding this wonderful opportunity to be considered as a sponsor partner. As you can imagine, support from the Guam Preservation Trust would not only help in the costs of making our project a reality, but more importantly, would symbolically speak volumes to our Chamorro community regarding how our Chamorro community came together for such a worthy project.

This is why we named our non-profit corporation Manhita Chamorro ("We Together Chamorro"). Manhita Chamorro's efforts are geared to the preservation of 3,000 years of Chamorro history and culture in Guam, the Northern Mariana Islands, extending to Hawaii and the U.S. mainland where thousands of Chamorros have made their home.

Chamorro language and culture has survived centuries of colonial rule through oral tradition, by being passed down by the elders, our man amko', from generation to generation. However, that generation of elders, the custodians of the language and culture, is passing on, making it imperative to record and preserve this treasure before it is too late. Consider this documentary project as an investment in the future knowledge of generations to come.

Manhita Chamorro seeks to achieve this goal through the production of a documentary film, narrated by Pale' Eric Forbes, a Chamorro priest, historian and cultural advocate, which will capture 26 years of his extensive research in archives spanning 5 countries in Europe, Asia and the U.S. This documentary film entitled, "I Am Chamorro," will cover the period before European contact, the three centuries of colonization and finally the present situation and our hopes for the future.

This documentary will appeal to all Chamorros around the world and also to those men and women who served to liberate Guam in World War II or who are currently serving on Guam. It will also appeal to a national audience, particularly those who seek the preservation of all indigenous ethnic communities that are part of our country's vast cultural make-up.

This is an expensive endeavor which Manhita Chamorro seeks to accomplish through corporate and private sponsorships as well as donations from organizations and entities such as the Guam Preservation Trust who shares common goals such as the preservation of our culture.

As you are aware, Manhita Chamorro has produced an "I Am Chamorro," trailer which can be viewed at www.iamchamorro.com. Please visit our website to also view our mission statement, photos and names of large donors.

We are humbled to request $15,000.00 to sponsor the research and production of the film and appreciate your consideration of this worthy project. The documentary film when produced has been invited to Fest Pac 2016 here on Guam. We are hopeful that Guam Preservation Trust will join organizations such as the Guam Visitor's Bureau, Che'lu Inc. and the San Francisco Bay Area Women's organization on the mainland to make this project a reality. Together we can!

Un-dangkulo' na si Yu'os ma'ase,

Joanne Tabor
President
Manhita Chamorro

Plaza de España Management Plan

Historical Background

Prior to the advent of Spanish contact in 1521 and later establishment of Guam as a Spanish colony, the village of Hagåtña was a settlement of Chamorros. Upon the inception of Spanish settlement and occupation, the Spanish constructed a complex for the Spanish Governor called the Plaza de España in 1736. The complex was originally named the Plaza de Magalahes as it was the official residence and seat of administration for the island's administering authority. In 1885, Governor Don Enrique Solano with a larger building. The buildings in the Plaza de España was constructed in the traditional Spanish style of either wood or manposteria. After the Spanish-American War in 1898, and the onset of the American Naval administration, the Plaza remained the seat of administration and official residence for the new American Naval Governors. The Governor's palace was renovated after it was damaged in an earthquake in 1905. Under the Japanese Occupation of Guam during World War II, the Governor's palace at the Plaza de España became the headquarters for Japanese forces.

The structures of the Plaza de España, including the Governor's Palace were destroyed during the American invasion of Guam from Japanese forces in July 1944. The remaining structures such as the walls of the Plaza, garden house, azotea, and the Chocolate House have undergone several restorations with the most recent repair completed in 2013.

As the Plaza de España was the center of political power in Guam for over 200 years during Spanish, American, and Japanese occupation, it remains an important heritage site for the people of Guam. As a result, the Plaza de España is listed on the U.S. National and Guam Registers of Historic Places and the site continues to play significant roles in Guam's history as a venue to memorialize and celebrate social and civic functions, including the inauguration of the Governor of Guam.

Executive Summary

The Guam Preservation Trust presents this Plaza de España Management Plan that will involve the shared responsibility of Guam's community. The management of the Plaza de España will focus on the preservation and conservation of heritage resources that are present on the grounds of the Plaza de España as well as promote Guam's heritage tourism through the program's enterprise.

It is the Guam Preservation Trust's intention, through our mission of preserving and protecting Guam's historic sites, to establish a management policy for Plaza de España and educate and to build the capacity of our community so that they become true advocates and stewards of our heritage resources on Guam.

Vision

Historic preservation on Guam is a public responsibility that is shared through education, cooperation, and advocacy all linking to Guam's cultural heritage.

Mission

The Guam Preservation Trust will preserve and protect Guam's historic sites, culture, and perspectives for the benefit of our people and our future. The Guam Preservation Trust also seeks to engage with the community and instill active heritage tourism on historic sites. Mission and Executive Summary could be combined.

Goals

1. The Guam Preservation Trust will coordinate with various community organizations to ensure the preservation and restoration of the historic Plaza de España as it was during the transition from Spanish to American administration.
2. The Guam Preservation Trust will promote traditional and contemporary activities compatible to restoring the Plaza de Espana to its historical prominence as the premier outdoor space for events in the capital of Hagatna.
3. The Guam Preservation Trust will develop compatible educational awareness and outreach programs for the Plaza de España to help the community appreciate the roles of the Plaza de España and events that transpired at the site in Guam's history from pre-Spanish times to contemporary Guam.
4. In an effort for visitors to appreciate the Plaza de España, The Guam Preservation Trust will promote heritage tourism on Guam by initiating programs to build capacity of historians, student-scholars, and other writers in the interpretation and presentation of historic properties for public education and appreciation by both domestic and international visitors through the Plaza de España.
5. The Guam Preservation Trust will engage and promote a strong conservation and preservation program with communities and organizations to sustain and maintain the Plaza de España.

Dear Mr. Quinata,

Garcia and Associates (GANDA), Natural and Cultural Resource Consultants is pleased to present this schedule and budget for preparation of the National Register of Historic Places (NRHP) nomination dossier for the Chagui'an Massacre Site. All objectives and deliverables required for successful completion of the dossier will be completed to the satisfaction of the Trust within 12 months of contract execution. Our firm's fixed-fee cost for the project, including labor effort, materials, expenses, and taxes, is $18,558.00. The table attached to this letter presents a detailed breakdown of the schedule and project budget.

To prepare the nomination dossier and conduct public outreach, GANDA will perform the following tasks: 1) recommend site boundaries, 2) research and prepare the NRHP nomination dossier, 3) conduct public information meetings, 4) provide periodic status reports, 5) present the nomination to the Guam Historic Preservation Review Board, and 6) submit a complete set of correctly formatted nomination documents.

These tasks will be performed by Principal Investigator Jolie Liston, PhD, and Project Director Cacilie Craft, MA, professionals who specialize in Micronesian cultural resources. The budget includes Dr. Liston's travel to Guam to present the Chagui'an Massacre Site NRHP nomination to the Guam Historic Preservation Review Board and consult with GPT.
