Mission

The Guam Preservation Trust will preserve and protect Guam's historic sites, culture, and perspectives for the benefit of our people and our future.

GUAM PRESERVATION TRUST

FINANCIAL OUTLOOK

WHERE TO FIND GPT IN 2024

3rd Pacific Preservation Summit - GPT will be the main host for the 3rd Pacific Preservation Summit with the theme of ONRA (Oral Narratives Recalled and Appreciated).

This summit builds on the success of the 1st and 2nd Pacific Preservation Summits that GPT hosted in 2018 and 2022 respectively, which covered themes of Historic Preservation throughout the Western Pacific Islands, with the most recent Summit focusing on using technology to preserve what Pacific Islanders hold sacred to be transmitted to the next generation. The 3rd summit will focus on the value of Oral Histories and its importance in preserving our cultural heritage. This theme is also aligned with GPT's enabling legislation which mandates the Trust to also focus on Ethnography and the oral history of Guam.

Acquisition of the Archbishop Felixberto Flores Home, Hagåtña – In fulfillment of our mandate to acquire the title to threatened Guam properties for the preservation of their historical value, the Board of Directors intend to purchase the Archbishop Felixberto Flores Home in the Hagåtña Historic District.

Guam Historic Courthouse, Hagåtña – With GPT supporting the design work, the Judiciary anticipates to reopen the historic courthouse whose structure can tell the story of design from early pioneer architects to Guam post 1945 and the places of important judicial rulings were made.

F.Q. Sanchez Rehabilitation– With initial funding secured, GPT will continue to work with our preservation partners to rehabilitate the historic school which was listed as one the 11 Most Endangered Historic Places in the nation by the National Trust for Historic Preservation. We look forward to return this structure to be used as authorized in Public Law 32-011 and by the Humåtak Village Revitalization Plan.

Atantåno Master Plan – GPT anticipates the results of a Plant Inventory and Cultural Resources survey to be completed and used to develop the final Atantåno Master Plan which will list compatible uses at GPT's southwestern property. Visit www.atantano.org for more information.

CHALLENGES AHEAD

Public Law 36-107 signed into law on September 12, 2022, reversed GPT's revenue source under Public Law 33-66. While it provides a full restoration of funding, funds are transferred on a quarterly basis and the full effect is expected to be realized towards the latter half of FY 2023 or Early FY 2024 affecting current projects in queue for at least a year.

GPT also faces challenges in funding the protection of an increased number of historic properties brought on by the destructive weather of Typhoon Mawar. Several historic sites and structures, including the Inalåhan Baptist Church and the Historic Lujan House will need assistance to repair and rehabilitate.

The constitution of the board of directors continuously has vacancies which may hamper the Trust's ability to obtain quorum to authorize and appropriate preservation funding for various projects. GPT will need the assistance of the government to appoint members to the Guam Historic Preservation Review Board who in turn become members of the Guam Preservation Trust Board
